DAMON'S FORECAST.

Banker Backs With Proof His Business Review.

(From the Honolulu Bulletin.)

Hon. S. M. Damon called the Bulletin reporter who wrote an informal interview with him the other day into his office this morning and backed up his general statements made on that occasion, with interesting facts and figures relative to the commerce and internal business of the Territory. Mr. Damon, it will be seen, takes a most hopeful view of Hawaii's future.

"When you were speaking with me the other day," began the financier, "I had no idea you were going to use my remarks for publication, but as you stated my views so fairly, I thought it best to substantiate what I had said to you in an informal way by some facts and figures.

Mr Stackable has kindly given me from time to time, statistics connected with the custom house which have been extremely helpful to me in forecasting conditions in this country, and upon the strength of which I have said to people here and in San Francisco that this Territory had a foundation of wealth that was not fully appreciated by many who look only on the surface of affairs.

"This substantial element in our resources, which causes a hopeful outlook for the future, is fully justified by the statistics which Mr. Stackable has prepared for the department this year. These figures are made up to the first of July and cover the fiscal year ending June 30.

"In reassuring friends here and abroad that we had a great deal in our favor as well as many things to depress us, my view has been that the solid capital of the country and its future prospects far outweigh the discouraging features that have arisen during the past two or three years.

"This is borne out by the custom house report already mentioned, in that our total exports for the year have been $24,793,735. When lating a bare 150,000, can show such an export, surely the present residents of the Territory can make a living. If they cannot there are people on the Mainland and in Europe who would be glad to take our places and wrest a profit out of conditions where we have not been able to see a living.

"These exports cover raw sugar, coffee, rice, fresh fruits, honey, hides, wool and sundry other productions. Sugar of course now far exceeds all other products of the Territory, but as our population increases and new avenues for industry will necessarily grow.

"In our relations with foreign countries, speaking technically, naturally the United States takes the lion's share, Great Britain coming next and Germany following, with others in smaller ratio. The carrying trade is nearly equally divided between ships under the American flag and ships under foreign flags. The coastwise trade being all in vessels under the American flag, the American tonnage exceeds the foreign by about 100,000 tons the total of tonnage arriving and departing at all Hawaiian ports being nearly one million tons.

"The total revenues collected by the customs department for the year amounted to $1,327,000. This amount naturally, we all feel, should be placed in the Territory. The withdrawal of this considerable sum every year in monthly remittances, at this time of contraction, is a very serious matter for us to face, but as we have met very critical situations in the past I have confidence that even this will be surmounted in the future.

"From inquiries made of bankers and merchants it would appear, and the statistics just given would corroborate it, that while profits have been very much reduced the actual business of the country has increased.

"While the bank deposits, from the published statements, are less than they were two years ago, the actual deposits made by individual customers, though not allowed to remain long at the bank, have materially increased, showing that there is more business now done than there has ever been done before.

"The coming sugar crop of 1903 is estimated by careful experts as approximately 400,000 tons. For the fiscal year just closed the actual crop was 360,000 tons. This is all in the line of definite proof that we are progressing, though in a more difficult path, but more on the lines of business as conducted on the Mainland. Competition and small profits are the rule and not the exception."

Calls for Intervention.

Berlin, August 13.—The newspapers here display news from Venezuela prominently and print everything available from New York on the probable landing of marines by the United States or Germany or both. Unusual interest is taken in current events in Central America, especially respecting the possible necessity for intervention.
